Extracto

I was born on December 8, 1998 in Argentina. I've been passionate about programming since I was very young. I started in programming designing a website for my school, from there until today I have interacted with many technologies and learned new programming languages.

<!-- ===== Vision ===== -->

My vision is to be the best version of myself every day, in order to provide my experience to the new generations, in turn, I hope that my work will positively influence society.

<!-- ===== Mission ===== -->

My mission is to keep my personal and family life in harmony. In the same way, I focus on learning everything related to programming as well as data study.
